++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mostly dry, with some bright or sunny spells developing.

Today:
A rather cloudy day, with morning low cloud and hill fog thick enough for some light rain or drizzle in places. Cloud will break slightly throughout the day, with some bright or sunny spells developing. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Remaining largely dry throughout, with low cloud redeveloping but occasional clear spells persisting elsewhere. Overnight, these may allow patchy frost and fog to form in places. Minimum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Monday:
Patchy frost and fog to start in places, then another mostly cloudy day following. Staying largely dry for most, although Cumbria may see some drizzle at times later. Becoming breezy. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Cloudy but largely dry Tuesday. A band of rain, heavy at times, moves across the region Wednesday morning, clearing to sunshine later. Unsettled, windy conditions following, with heavy showers Thursday.
